1. A current player on an NCCAA team.
2. Has exemplary Christian character.
3. Has shown courage in the midst of difficult circumstances in such a way as to inspire others.

III. AWARD

IV. PURPOSE

The purpose of this award is to recognize a Christian athlete who has also shown courage in the midst of difficult circumstances, while at the same time inspiring others to live out their faith. God Himself puts a premium on perseverance and endurance. It is our desire to encourage those who are doing just that in unusual circumstances, and to say thank you for truly reminding us of our Living Hope.

V. HONOREE

The award itself was inspired by the courage of Kathy Stewart of Kentucky Christian College.

On May, 7, 1998, Kathy Stewart was diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor. This diagnosis was followed by six months of physical problems and fruitless efforts to find the cause. During the summer of 1998, Kathy underwent two surgeries to remove the tumor, a series of radiation treatments, and two months of recovery. She returned to school in mid-September, made up her class work and proceeded to play basketball her senior year. Physically, Kathy struggled, but spiritually she gave God praise for His mercy and support during her ordeal. Throughout Kathy’s illness, she constantly lifted others up with her positive outlook and her bubbling spirit. Though struggling herself, her greatest concern was for her family.

On February 18, 2000, Kathy lost her battle to cancer, but won the victory in Jesus for her eternity. She was a model student-athlete and an inspiration for all in the way she lived out her faith. All who knew Kathy were challenged to do the same.

Appendix D NCCAA Presidential Award

The NCCAA is pleased to present an annual All-Sports Award to one Division I and one Division II member institution. Points are earned based upon a team's finish in an NCCAA National Championship. At least 33% of the division's membership must sponsor that sport in order for it to be eligible for the point system. Softball, cross country, indoor track & field, track & field, golf, and tennis serve as "uni-division" championships in which either division is eligible for points. Currently, Division I sports include golf (m), volleyball (w), soccer (m & w), cross country (m & w), indoor track & field (m & w), basketball (m & w), softball, track & field (m & w), tennis (m & w), and baseball; Division II sports include soccer (m & w), volleyball (w), basketball, and baseball in addition to the "uni-division" championships.
