ASSIST ATTEMPT is awarded whenever that player passes or sets the ball to an attacker who subsequently attacks the ball or attempts to keep it in play.

RECEPTION ERROR is charged to a player if the serve strikes the floor in the area of the player, the player passes the serve but it cannot be kept in play by her team, or the player is called for a reception violation by the official (i.e. "lift").

DIG is awarded to a player whenever she passes a ball that has been attacked by the opposition and it is kept in play. The pass or play of any ball that is attacked is awarded a dig. The ball can be kept in play on the digger's side of the net or returned to the opposition.

BLOCK SOLO is awarded to a player whenever the player blocks the ball into the opposition's court, leading directly to a point.

BLOCK ASSIST is awarded to each player whenever two or three players block the ball into the opponent's court for a point, even if only one player actually blocks the ball.
